Who we are

The Personalised Care Institute is a virtual organisation, backed by NHSE & I and convened by the Royal College of General Practitioners. We are a collaborative organisation with more than forty partners from across health and care, working together to develop, assure and deliver high quality personalised care training.

We have just celebrated our first anniversary and we are proud to have already developed the first curriculum for personalised care in the UK and possibly the world. We have established an accreditation service for personalised care training courses and developed e-learning education modules. Over 5,600 modes of personalised care training have already been completed.

The PCI is the home of personalised care, sharing education, resources, research, and knowledge with a UK and international audience.

Our aim

The PCI, working with NHSE, aims to train 75,000 clinicians and professionals across health and care by 2024, but we are more ambitious than that. We want to understand the impact our training has on the performance of the HCPs we've trained and demonstrate how that training has positively changed the lives of the people those HCPs work with.
